

Exhibition and Sponsorship Invitation

Skåne University Hospital and the city of Lund will be hosting NOPHOs 40th Annual Meeting and NOBOS 14th Biannual Meeting in Lund, Sweden 5-8 May 2023.

The congress will bring together approximately 400 paediatric haemato-oncologists, residents, researchers, nurses, and other professionals from the Nordic and Baltic countries working in the different areas of paediatric benign haematological diseases and paediatric cancer.

The theme for the meeting will be “Genes in cancer, child, and care” in recognition of the dramatic development of large-scale genomic sequencing and Precision Medicine in paediatric oncological and haematological care. These developments offer great promises, but also major challenges, and affects all different professionals working with children with cancer and haematological diseases.

NOPHO is the Nordic collaboration of paediatric oncology clinicians and researchers and had its first meeting in Lund in 1980 (and was formally founded in 1984). NOPHO joined the European and international paediatric oncology organization SIOPE in 2013. NOPHO has since extended to also include Estonia and Lithuania.

NOBOS is the society for Paediatric Oncology Nurses in the Nordic countries that coordinates and develops knowledge in clinical nursing care.

We hope you will be interested in contributing to this outstanding paediatric haemato-oncology scientific and educational event together with us. There are many ways to participate with various exhibition and sponsorship items available. You find all the information about the sponsorship opportunities on the following pages.

We look forward to your participation in the NOPHO/NOBOS 2023 congress in Lund!
